

Credit Card Drug Paraphernalia

2018

A School Resource Officer (SRO) in Meridian was informed of the device. When the SRO contacted the juvenile, the juvenile voluntarily turned it over to the SRO. The devices were being sold for approximately $10.

Texture not smooth like CC and appears printed

Bowl

Magnetic strips keep the pipe together

Mouthpiece

The device is metal; multiple layers help with the filter portion and magnets connect everything together, including the mouthpiece and bowl. The texture on the device was rough, not smooth as is the texture on an actual credit card. The faceplate, which mimics a credit card, is available in various designs.
